

CONSENT MATTERS:

Boundaries, Respect and Positive Intervention

A 60-minute interactive online course for students

Talking about sex can be difficult

How can you tell if someone is really into it if you don't ask?

How do you know when to go ahead, when to pause and when to stop?

If you are in a situation that makes you uncomfortable, how can you step-in with confidence?

Remember consent is not all about you, it's about looking out for your friends as well.

If you think something is inappropriate, chances are others will think the same thing too.

We all know no means no, but there's more to consent than a simple yes or no.

This course will show you:

- What consent looks and sounds like.
- How you can clearly communicate what you want.
- When consent can be given and when it can't.
- How and when you might step into a situation when consent is not present.

The course is made up of four modules:

1. Thinking about consent
2. Communication skills and relationships
3. Looking out for others
4. Support

Text

Featuring:

- Animations
- Interactive activities
- Student quotes and perspectives
- Practical advice
- Links to national support services
- Practice scenarios

Consent Matters provides a safe space for all students to learn about consent – find out how you could make a positive impact in the university community with this short online course.

Instructions for new students:

1. Log in to KEATS <https://login-keats.kcl.ac.uk>
2. Select Consent Matters: Boundaries, Respect and Positive Intervention in the Current tab.

Finish the post-quiz to complete the course.

It stops
HERE.

www.itstopshere.kcl.ac.uk